

SERVICE LEARNING IN KENYA – SLIK

For High School Sophomores, Juniors and Seniors

What to Expect:

Experienced leadership. SLIK founder and course leader Fred Roberts lived in Kenya from 1986 to 1999 and with his wife own Batian's View Experiential Education Center, a team building and leadership center serving Kenyans, and where the students stay while in Kenya. Mr. Roberts has been running SLIK courses since 2005 and is close friends with the teachers and principals that will be working with the Americans.

Volunteer teaching. Serve as a volunteer teacher at a primary school near the town of Naro Moru. Responsibilities include lesson planning, classroom teaching, and assisting with extra curricular activities with the Kenyan students.

Community Service. Two days of actively assisting in a project to serve the community. This may include painting a classroom or mixing cement for new classroom floors. Be prepared for physical labor!

Cultural interaction. Along with interacting with Kenyan teachers and students, the Americans will visit the homes of Kenyans living in a rural area and gain a firsthand understanding of their lifestyle.

Learning. Evening lessons and discussions on a variety of topics related to Kenya's history, cultures, and national language, Kiswahili.

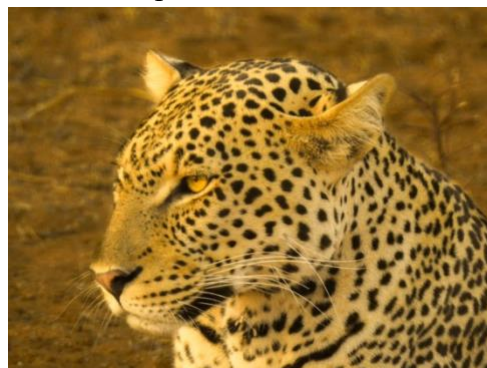

Wildlife safari. A three-day safari to one of Kenya's game reserves to see Kenya's famous wildlife.

Experiential education. A day will be spent with leadership and team building activities on the high and low challenge course at Batian's View with local Kenyan high school students.

Mt. Kenya hike. A four-day trek on Mt. Kenya from the dense forest zone to the alpine area above 15,000'. Depending on weather and other factors summiting Pt. Lenana at 16,355' will be attempted.
